

GET TOGETHER MOVE MAKING IN SENATE TO NAME GALLINGER

Senator's Friends Hope to Win Over Enough Progressives.

Efforts are being made to settle the differences among the Senate Republicans over the question of a President pro tempore, and to elect Senator Gallinger to that place this week. The election, if held, will be for the term ending March 4. Friends of Senator Gallinger hope to win over enough progressive Republican votes to elect Gallinger.

If the progressive Republicans elect Senator Gallinger, by throwing their votes to him, it will be largely for personal reasons. Some disposition exists, however, to look up this matter with the general proposition of reorganizing the Republican party and drawing the two factions together. The two matters have little or no relation.

Talk of Reorganization.
The subject of reorganization of the party continues to be freely discussed as the result of the conference of governors here Saturday. But the matter will not get beyond the stage of discussion at this time. Standpatters are showing no enthusiasm for the plan proposed by Senator Cummins, and advocated by Governor Bradley, of calling a national convention to adopt a new constitution and to elect a new President.

Would Unite Parties.
Governor Eberhardt of Minnesota said the Republicans and third party men would get together before another year and completely reorganize the Republican party.

"I have the assurance of leaders in both parties that there will be a spirit of give and take at the proper time," said he, "and that when the time comes each side will be willing to concede a point in the interest of party harmony."

He predicted that by 1913 the Republican party will be united and ready to win against the Democrats in the Congressional campaign.

INDIA SUBJECT OF HOLMES LECTURE

Traveler, in Fourth of Series at Columbia Theater, Describes Interesting Country

"India and Its Glories" formed the theme of a travelogue given as the fourth of a series by Burton Holmes at the Columbia Theater last night. His lecture was crowded with information from the first view of the wonderful Taj Mahal, a beautiful building of delicate marble carved in the final glimpse of the snow-capped peaks of Mt. Everest, highest peak of the Himalayas.

The talk was prefaced by a series of motion pictures taken from a train along the river front at Benares. There could be seen thousands of pilgrims bathing and praying in the holy Ganges river, and the Brahmins of Benares performing their complex religious ceremonies on the shore.

Mr. Holmes also took his audience to Calcutta, the famous Government House, and many other interesting spots.

Boy Is Stabbed.

Clarence Limerick, fourteen years old, of 25 E street northeast, was stabbed in the left breast during an altercation with an unidentified colored boy at Fifth and D streets northeast. The wound is not serious.

The ads in the classified advertising columns of The Washington Times are "little nuggets of gold"—they contain money-making, money-saving news in wonderful abundance. We want every reader of our news columns to read the classified advertising columns, for we want you to know of the many unusual opportunities to be found there; so we have devised a plan to draw your attention to them.

Last Saturday we began to scatter through the columns of the classified pages a series of separate sentences—not parts of any of the advertisements. You are to choose ONE WORD from each of these sentences and put all the chosen words together to form a well-known proverb which we have hidden in the sentences.

For instance—take a proverb "Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today." It contains 10 words; so you would find ten sentences scattered through the classified advertising columns, from EACH of which you will choose ONE word to form the proverb. A new proverb will be thus hidden away EVERY DAY.

Each day two pairs of reserved seat tickets to Chase's Theater will be awarded for correct solutions. 1st prize, two tickets; 2d prize, two tickets.

Names of the winners will be published each day, and they will also be notified by mail. Tickets will be delivered only upon presentation of letter of notification, at The Times office, Room 727 Munsey Building.

WASHINGTON LODGE TO DECORATE TOMB

Alexandria Masons Will Formally Observe Anniversary of First President's Death at Mt. Vernon—Methodists Hold Memorial Services.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU.
ALEXANDRIA, VA., DEC. 9.

The 112th anniversary of the death of George Washington, will be appropriately celebrated next Saturday by Alexandria-Washington Lodge, No. 22, A. F. and A. M., of which General Washington was the first worshipful master.

In accordance with its annual custom, which has been observed ever since the death of the First President, the officers and members of the lodge will go to Mt. Vernon and place a wreath on Washington's grave. On this occasion the tomb is always opened, and the wreath is placed directly on the sarcophagus.

This year a number of representatives of other lodges will join with the Alexandria lodge in the ceremonies. Frederickburg Lodge No. 4, of Frederickburg, Va., where Washington was made a Mason, and Washington Lodge No. 121, of New York city, named from the President, will each send representatives who will deposit wreaths on the grave at the same time.

The officers of William L. Elkins Lodge of Philadelphia will also be present as the guests of the Alexandria Masons and take part in the celebration. The Masons will leave Alexandria at 1 o'clock in the private car "Mt. Vernon" of the Washington-Virginia Railway Company.

The Methodist Protestant Church of Alexandria, established in 1828, and the oldest congregation of the denomination in the world, held its annual memorial services last night. A large congregation was present, and took part in the interesting program. Since the organization of the church, eighty-five years ago, 600 members have died. The services last night consisted of the calling of the roll of the dead by John H. Trimyer, a solo by Miss Jeanette Bishell, and a sermon by the Rev. C. A. Strauborg on the subject "If a Man Die, Shall He Live Again?"

The question as to the manner in which Patrick Buckley, the "boy guide" of Alexandria, met his death, is being investigated today by a grand jury of the corporation court, and from the large number of witnesses which have been summoned, it is evident that the Commonwealth intends to make a thorough investigation of the death of Buckley.

The grand jury is composed of J. F. Preston, Oscar W. Phillips, Leopold Ruben, P. M. Bradshaw, C. H. Foye, Mark L. Price, Jr., Thomas W. Robinson, John McCuen, Lorenzo Wolford, and a suit has been entered in the circuit court of Alexandria county by John Merritt, of Washington, through his attorneys, Leo P. Harlow, of Alexandria, and Nelson Wilson, of Washington, to recover damages in the sum of $10,000 against Arthur Shanks, alias Arthur Wood, for the alleged mistreatment of his daughter, Marie Merritt, thirteen years old.

An attachment has been filed against Shanks' property in Alexandria county. The defendant is in jail in this city awaiting the action of the Federal grand jury on charges of a serious nature preferred by the parents of Marie Merritt and other little girls.

Congressman's Illness Alarming to Friends

The condition of Congressman William O. Brown of West Virginia continues very serious in his apartment in Congress Hall. Last night his condition was so serious as to alarm his friends, but today he is much improved, and his physicians believe him not to be in immediate danger. Representative Brown is suffering with a complication of heart disease and acute indigestion.

REQUESTS FUND TO ADVERTISE SALE OF PUBLIC DOCUMENTS

Superintendent Says Government Could Turn Waste Into Profit.

A fund to pay for widespread and consistent advertising of Government documents and publications that are valuable to the public, at cost price, in the office of the Superintendent of Documents, is advocated by Superintendent of Documents August Donath, in his annual report.

Mr. Donath says that one previous attempt at such advertising was made by his predecessor, but to be successful such a campaign must be continued. Mr. Donath declares many Government publications that are desired and would be of benefit to the people of the United States are permitted to go to the dump pile because the public does not know of their existence and the small price for which they may be secured. The sale of public documents last year netted a total of $107,882. This sum would have been much larger, the superintendent believes, had the documents in his office been advertised. Such advertising, he declares, would eventually give a profit to the Government in the saving of what is now waste material.

Mr. Donath asks for an increase of salary for his working force, declaring the largest volume of work in the history of the office had been accomplished last year by a less number of employees than were on the payroll the previous year, and that the remuneration given the employees of his office was on a lower basis than that allowed the executive department.

A total of 27 cases of sickness and accident was treated at the Government Printing Office during the fiscal year of 1912, according to the report of William J. Manning, medical and sanitary officer of the Government.

During the year $284.04 was paid out by the Government Printing Office to employees injured while at work under the employer's liability act. Dr. Manning regards this sum as very small when the number of employees and amount expended in wages is considered.
